

Humanities

Igor B. Orlov

Graduated from A.M.Gorky Kharkov State University in 1990, Faculty of History. Doctor of Sciences degree, 2000. Professor and deputy dean of the Faculty of Social Science in the School of Political Science of the Higher School of Economics.

Contents

Introduction.

Chapter 1. The person in history: historical and philosophical traditions and innovations

Chapter 2. The new anthropological renaissance and the phenomenon of the ‘historic person’

Chapter 3. ‘New histories’: from interdisciplinarity to claims to paradigm status

Chapter 4. The ‘historic person’: facets and stages of transformation

Conclusion.

Glossary.

Bibliography.